U.S. Plans Lull in Warfare

U.S. Bombers Smash Key Red Viet Bridge

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. Navy jets smashed a key railroad bridge 18 miles west of Haiphong today in another heavy bombardment of North Viet Nam's heartland. U.S. spokesmen reported, while Air Force planes carried the air war in the South within 800 yards of Cambodia.

Ninety Air Force F105 Thunderchiefs, F4C Phantoms and F100 Super Sabres and 30 carrier planes took part in the night-and-day assaults on North Viet Nam, hitting 10 bridges, main routes and storage areas, U.S. spokesmen reported.

In the South, Air Force Sky-raidiers slammed into an old Viet Cong stronghold on the Cambodian border in the marshy Plain of Reeds 35 miles northwest of Saigon. Acting on information from a Viet Cong defector, the Air Force ordered a strike on a 3-mile-square area that spokesmen said had been used for years as a hideout by the Communists and a marshaling point for supplies dribbling in from Cambodia.

Associated Press photographer Richard Merion, who flew with the mission, said: "We hit some buildings only 800 yards from the border itself. You could see the border as very well defined by some old Vietnamese fortifications which still are there. At least 30 or 40 huts and other buildings were hit hard."

In all the air activity only one plane was reported lost in the past 24 hours, and that was announced Tuesday. The pilot was rescued after bailing out. In the previous 24-hour air activity, four U.S. planes were reported lost.

Civil Rights Boycott Is Stiffened

FAYETTE, Miss. (AP)—Civil rights forces have stiffened their support of a boycott against white merchants here in hopes the lack of Christmas shoppers will show a need to meet their desegregation demands.

State, county and federal law officers watched Tuesday while 40 pickets backing a "Black Christmas" marched through near-deserted streets — proof of the economic pinch caused by the boycott.

Field director Charles Evers of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People said he formed patrols to keep Negroes out of town and to watch for Ku Klux Klan attacks on pickets.

Evers said picketing would continue until Friday when the group would stage a demonstration.

Evers has called a campaign of no buying or Christmas decorating until demands are met in full. Negroes want desegregation of all public facilities including public schools, two Negroes on the police force and Miss or Mrs.

A group called Americans for the Preservation of the White Race has urged a "buy-in" to counter the boycott. Rowland Scott of Natchez, president, asked shoppers in a six-county area to patronize white Fayette merchants.

Evers said the countermove had produced few results.

Pope Plans Annual Yule Talk Thursday

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul VI wished a merry Christmas to all today at his weekly general audience, the last before the forthcoming holiday.

The Pope will deliver his traditional Christmas message to the world Thursday night over Vatican radio.

Red China Expects Attack by U.S.

By FELI GREENE
A British Journalist

LONDON (AP) — The government in Peking is convinced that a U.S. attack on China has become highly probable.

I was not told this by Mao Tse-tung or Chou En-lai, but after five weeks of recent travel through Communist China, I find this conclusion inescapable.

There is evidence that the people are being prepared for a major confrontation.

Chen-yi, the foreign minister,

declared last September:

"It is up to the U.S. President and the Pentagon to decide whether the United States wants a big war with China."

If the United States is determined to launch a war, he said, "they are welcome to come sooner — to come as early as tomorrow."

Empty bombast?

I don't think so.

Behind this "Come on, we're waiting for you," challenge is the belief that the United States if it faces an impasse in Viet Nam and is unable to concede defeat — may, against its better military judgment, attempt to find a solution by widening the area of conflict.

Chen-yi's challenge also springs from a supreme confidence in China's defense capacity.

Wherever I went in China I saw young people drilling and taking target practice. The civilian militiaman has been reactivated and extended so that almost every 18 to 40, women as well as men, is in training.

Every commune, every village I visited had its civilian defense unit — sturdy young peasant girls and boys becoming proficient with rifles and bayonets.

As a result, China today can mount the greatest defense-in-depth that the world has ever seen.

She could mobilize, I was told (and after what I saw I could believe it), a civilian defense army of 100 million in a matter of hours.

Red 'Truce' At Christmas To Be Tested

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and South Viet Nam are reported planning a Christmas lull in the war in Viet Nam to the extent that the Communists are willing to go along and refrain from shooting on their side.

The Communist forces broadcast two weeks ago a suggestion for a truce in the fighting on the night before Christmas. If both sides stop shooting, there could be an effective truce even though no formal cease-fire agreement is likely.

The Communist call was for a 12-hour cease-fire beginning on Christmas Eve and lasting until Christmas morning. Apparently the United States and South Viet Nam plan a 24-hour cessation of hostilities on their side provided that the Communists do not initiate offensive actions.

Any effective lull presumably would cover bombing strikes against North Viet Nam as well as ground and air actions in the South.

State Department officials have refused to discuss the situation or comment on what they call speculative reports about possible developments. Some informants did say they thought the situation would soon be clarified.

Publicly, they are making no statements. Only Tuesday night, assistant White House press secretary Joe Laitin said, "I don't have anything on that."

But privately there is talk that the Communist proposal might be accepted by simply refraining from any action during the period if a practical cease-fire also is observed by the Communist Viet Cong guerrillas and North Vietnamese troops.

Sources said that a formal acceptance would be highly unlikely since the Communist proposal came in a radio broadcast, rather than through diplomatic channels.

The temporary truce was proposed two weeks ago in a Red radio broadcast in South Viet Nam. The Communists offered to stop attacks from 7 p.m. Christmas Eve until 7 a.m. Christmas.

A State Department spokesman said then that the real Christmas present for the world (Continued on Page 2)

Cold Vaccine Is Possible In 5 Years

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a personal note, Charles Dickens once wrote:

"I am at this moment deaf in the ears, hoarse in the throat, red in the nose, green in the gills, damp in the eyes, twitchy in the joints and fractious in temper from a most intolerant and oppressive cold."

Scientists estimate almost every American will experience at least one of those symptoms at least once during the coming year.

Many will suffer the miseries of the common cold up to five separate times.

And the future? Dr. Justin M. Andrews of the National Institutes of Health is perhaps optimistic in foreseeing development of a good vaccine within five years.

"We have identified the enemy," he has been quoted, "and are now ready to attack him."

Funds Set Aside for Berger

City Council Okays Budget Of $648,600 for Next Year

Appropriations amounting to $648,600.86 were approved last night by Circleville Council to meet operational expenses in 1966.

The largest portion of this budget falls under the general fund category, with $333,272.65 appropriated. This is an increase of $74,671 over last year's figure.

The total appropriations represent an increase of $70,319.21 over last year's sum of $578,381.65.

The 1966 budget, prepared by Councilman Frank Barnhill's finance committee and City Auditor Marvene Turner, was based on anticipated receipts of $785,284.04 for the year. The bulk of the expected balance of $136,683.18 will come from unappropriated revenue in the waterworks operating and sewage disposal funds, anticipated at $132,062.46.

The general fund appropriation includes $10,000 as assistance to Berger Hospital's general operating fund. The Board of County Commissioners has indicated the county will appropriate a similar amount to help the hospital meet current expenses for the year.

BROKEN down into six major functions, the budget listed sections for the general fund, street construction - maintenance and repair, state highway improvement, food service operating, waterworks operating and sewage disposal.

Governmental services coming under the general fund are council and clerk, mayor, auditor, treasurer, solicitor, legal advertising, municipal court, civil service commission, safety department to include police, fire and health departments, service department and miscellaneous expenses.

The appropriation of $81,855 for police department operations is $5,205 more than 1965. Spokesmen said the additional funds will provide for expanded operations.

The appropriation for fire department functions listed an increase of $4,622 for a broader program of activity. Street construction, maintenance and repair funds were set at $81,796 with income estimated at $81,815.71.

The street fund includes $17,000 for major reconstruction by contracting with private firms. An additional $40,000 has been set aside for major reconstruction under City Service Department operations.

Church Favors Own Land Rather than County Home

Circleville Bible College officials and the General Boards of the Churches of Christ in Christian Union have established plans to expand their facilities on church owned land one mile east of here on Route 22.

According to church spokesmen, increased enrollment at the Bible College has made it mandatory to expand and relocate. Members of the joint boards had been studying the possibilities of purchasing the Pickaway County Infirmary, now closed, for expansion purposes.

However, they have concluded that the desirability of having the college closer to Circleville on property already owned by the church makes their plan more feasible. They said several other factors were taken into consideration before reaching this decision.

Current plans, according to the Rev. Richard Humble, general superintendent, will be long-range and will be carried out in two main steps. Within a few months ground will be broken for the first building which is to be used as an office structure for the General Departments of the church other than the college.

THIS step will allow the college to temporarily use office facilities now being occupied by these General Departments at the E. Ohio St. campus.

The second step will be taken later. It calls for additional buildings to be constructed, making it possible for the Bible College to move to the new location and the General Departments to remain behind.

"The sad part," Dr. Lewis D. Eigen, associate director of the corps, said in an interview, "is those who didn't want to go home."

"For them, home is of such meager substance that they'd be a burden."

Officials estimate the cost to the government of the average trip will be about $70. They point out that the paid leaves were included in the Job Corps budget.

Job Corpsmen Get Yule Leaves

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Job Corps is offering an appropriate Christmas gift to its 17,500 trainees: an all-expense-paid trip home.

Some 14,000 accepted the present. Some 3,500 others chose to remain behind.

A plat of the farm site is being prepared. It will include these future buildings and the campus layout, Rev. Humble said.

Tories Split On Opposition To Wilson

LONDON (AP) — A foreign policy debate in the House of Commons ended in triumph for Prime Minister Harold Wilson Tuesday night and split the Conservative opposition.

The Conservatives divided over the Labor government's Rhodesia policy. Wilson's announcement that he plans to meet Soviet leaders in Moscow in February silenced critics of his own party who accuse him of too much support for the American stand in Viet Nam.

By a vote of 299-272, the House defeated a Conservative motion to restrict economic sanctions against Rhodesia. Seven Conservatives abstained and the nine Liberal party members voted with the government, increasing its normal majority from 2 to 27.

Then 50 Conservatives defied their leader, Edward Heath, and forced a vote against oil sanctions. The majority of the Conservatives abstained and the motion was crushed 276-50.

The votes followed a bitter and often noisy two-day debate on the government's foreign policy.

Johnson Family Is Home for Yule

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson and his family gathered at the old homestead in the Texas hill country today to celebrate Mrs. Johnson's 53rd birthday.

The First Family flew in from Washington Tuesday night and is expected to remain at the LBJ Ranch 65 miles west of here through the holidays.

Johnson faced a heavy work load putting final touches on the new budget that will go to Congress next month. However, the first day of the Johnsons' stay began in a holiday mood, thanks to the First Lady's birthday.

Budget Chiefs Still Studying A-Smasher

WASHINGTON (AP)—Atomic Energy Commission officials said today they are still discussing with the Budget Bureau the matter of asking funds to start construction of a $380-million atom smasher.

They told a reporter they would not necessarily delay their initial plans to begin building the device in calendar year 1968 provided Congress formally authorizes the project.

They denied published reports that the Budget Bureau had ordered the AEC to drop from its 1967 budget requests for $7.5 million for initial architectural and engineering work on the project because of the Viet Nam war.

Communities in 43 states are still competing for location of the proposed 200-billion electron volt particle accelerator. The AEC has been busy trying to pick a site, although the project has not been authorized by Congress.

New Trial Sought For Negro Boy in Georgia Murder

MACON, Ga. (AP) — A plea for a new trial has been reset for Jan. 31 in the case of Preston Cobb Jr., the youngest person ever sentenced to death in Georgia.

The latest postponement was granted Tuesday in Superior Court as Cobb's attorneys sought to nullify a second murder trial which resulted in a life sentence for the young Negro accused of slaying a white farmer.

The case has been in the courts since Cobb, now 20, was convicted of murder at 15 and sentenced to death.

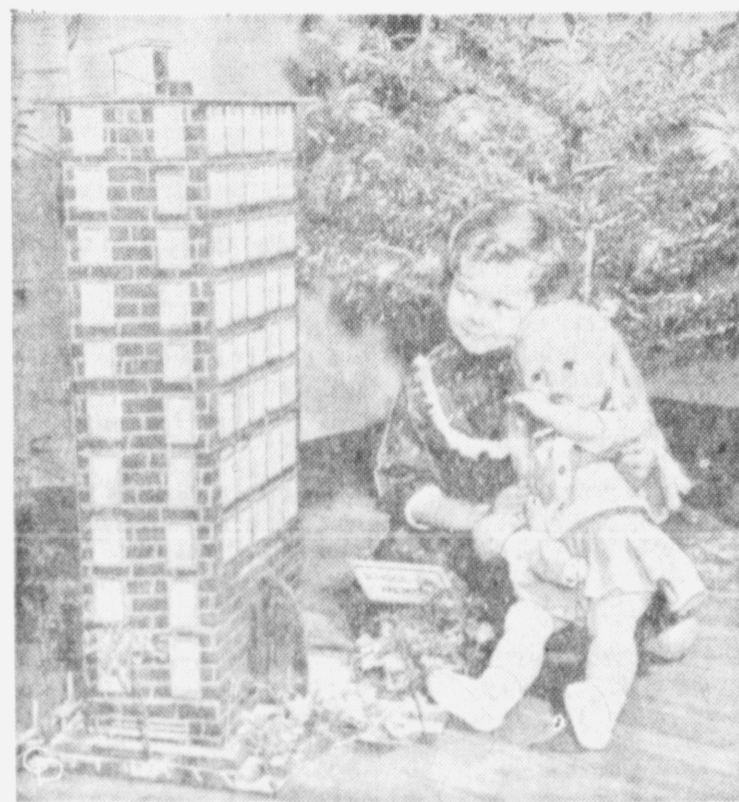

The Supreme Court overturned the conviction on grounds that Negroes were systematically excluded from Jasper County juries. In a second trial, another all-white jury sentenced Cobb to life imprisonment. Cobb is being held in Reidsville state prison.

Circleville is listed in the improvement recommendations for Ohio, although no mention of a new airport was made in the FAA announcement.

However, a study is under way by the Chamber of Commerce Airport Committee to determine the need for a city-county airport facility. The effort is getting strong support from the Circleville Flying Assn. and several private citizens.

Efforts to establish an airport are expected to be concentrated by the supporting groups next month. Petitions have been circulated throughout the county and are to be presented to Pickaway County Commissioners next month.

The petitioners are asking that the county solicit an airport authority group to officially probe the matter.

LONDON (AP) — A foreign policy debate in the House of Commons ended in triumph for Prime Minister Harold Wilson Tuesday night and split the Conservative opposition.

The Conservatives divided over the Labor government's Rhodesia policy. Wilson's announcement that he plans to meet Soviet leaders in Moscow in February silenced critics of his own party who accuse him of too much support for the American stand in Viet Nam.

By a vote of 299-272, the House defeated a Conservative motion to restrict economic sanctions against Rhodesia. Seven Conservatives abstained and the nine Liberal party members voted with the government, increasing its normal majority from 2 to 27.

Then 50 Conservatives defied their leader, Edward Heath, and forced a vote against oil sanctions. The majority of the Conservatives abstained and the motion was crushed 276-50.

The votes followed a bitter and often noisy two-day debate on the government's foreign policy.

Budget Chiefs Still Studying A-Smasher

WASHINGTON (AP)—Atomic Energy Commission officials said today they are still discussing with the Budget Bureau the matter of asking funds to start construction of a $380-million atom smasher.

They told a reporter this would not necessarily delay their initial plans to begin building the device in calendar year 1968 provided Congress formally authorizes the project. They denied published reports that the Budget Bureau had ordered the AEC to drop from its 1967 budget requests for $7.5 million for initial architectural and engineering work on the project because of the Viet Nam war.

Communities in 43 states are still competing for location of the proposed 200-billion electron volt particle accelerator. The AEC has been busy trying to pick a site, although the project has not been authorized by Congress.

Wheat Acreage Cut
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Department of Agriculture indicates Ohio acreage seeded to winter wheat for the 1966 crop at 1,199,000 or 93 per cent of the 1965 crop plantings.

Once Around Roundtown

A HOLIDAY open house was being observed today in the upper lobby of the Courthouse . . . County employees and visitors were treated to a variety of Christmas cookies, punch and coffee compliments of Judge William Ammer, the Clerk of Courts staff and Mary Brown, custodian.

MANY Roundtowners are hoping for a "change in the weather" . . . Temperatures are expected to climb to near 50 degrees today and in the mid 50s tomorrow . . .

Earlier in the week the weatherman indicated there would be a "White Christmas." But from a layman's observation it looks like we may have a repeat of Christmas 1964 . . . Last year on Christmas Eve, the mercury climbed to 68 degrees with thunder and lightning replacing the longed-for snow.

THE CIRCLEVILLE Fire Department's biggest and best Christmas present will be a little late . . .

According to Chief Bernard Wolfe, the department's new aerial ladder - pumper vehicle will not arrive here until the week of Jan. 10 . . . Fire men had hoped there might be a chance the dandy unit would arrive before Christmas.

CIRCLEVILLE Postmaster Charles Walters has announced hours for the post office will be 8:30 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. Thursday . . . Friday, the post office windows will be open 8:30 to 5 p. m. . . . On Saturday and Sunday, postal facilities will be closed.

New Trial Sought For Negro Boy in Georgia Murder

MACON, Ga. (AP) — A plea for a new trial has been reset for Jan. 31 in the case of Preston Cobb Jr., the youngest person ever sentenced to death in Georgia.

The latest postponement was granted Tuesday in Superior Court as Cobb's attorneys sought to nullify a second murder trial which resulted in a life sentence for the young Negro accused of slaying a white farmer.

The case has been in the courts since Cobb, now 20, was convicted of murder at 15 and sentenced to death.

The Supreme Court overturned the conviction on grounds that Negroes were systematically excluded from Jasper County juries. In a second trial, another all-white jury sentenced Cobb to life imprisonment. Cobb is being held in Reidsville state prison.

3 Firemen Are Fined For 4 False Alarms

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP) — Three veteran New Brunswick firemen were fined a total of $450 Tuesday by Magistrate Meyer J. Cohen who found them guilty of turning in four false alarms.

Fire Chief Angelo Torrisi said the incident occurred during the early morning hours on Nov. 24, after the three men had left a bachelor party.

Virtually all of the city's fire-fighting equipment responded to the alarms, which were turned in during a 35-minute period.

Red 'Truce' At Christmas To Be Tested

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and South Viet Nam are reported planning a Christmas lull in the war in Viet Nam to the extent that the Communists are willing to go along and refrain from shooting on their side.

The Communist forces broadcast two weeks ago a suggestion for a truce in the fighting on the night before Christmas. If both sides stop shooting, there could be an effective truce even though no formal cease-fire agreement is likely.

The Communist call was for a 12-hour cease-fire beginning on Christmas Eve and lasting until Christmas morning. Apparently the United States and South Viet Nam plan a 24-hour cessation of hostilities on their side provided that the Communists do not initiate offensive actions.

Any effective lull presumably would cover bombing strikes against North Viet Nam as well as ground and air actions in the South.

State Department officials here refused to discuss the situation or comment on what they call speculative reports about possible developments. Some informants did say they thought the situation would soon be clarified.

Publicly, they are making no statements. Only Tuesday night, assistant White House press secretary Joe Laitin said, "I don't have anything on that."

But privately there is talk that the Communist proposal might be accepted by simply refraining from any action during the period if a practical cease-fire also is observed by the Communist Viet Cong guerrillas and North Vietnamese troops.

Sources said that a formal acceptance would be highly unlikely since the Communist proposal came in a radio broadcast, rather than through diplomatic channels.

The temporary truce was proposed two weeks ago in a Red radio broadcast in South Viet Nam. The Communists offered to stop attacks from 7 p. m. Christmas Eve until 7 a. m. Christmas.

A State Department spokesman said then that the real Christmas present for the world

Cold Vaccine Is Possible In 5 Years

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a personal note, Charles Dickens once wrote:

"I am at this moment deaf in the ears, hoarse in the throat, red in the nose, green in the gills, damp in the eyes, twitchy in the joints and fractious in temper from a most intolerant and oppressive cold."

Scientists estimate almost every American will experience at least one of those symptoms at least once during the coming year.

Many will suffer the miseries of the common cold up to five separate times.

And the future? Dr. Justin M. Andrews of the National Institutes of Health is perhaps optimistic in foreseeing development of a good vaccine within five years.

"We have identified the enemy," he has been quoted, "and are now ready to attack him."

tems to zero in on the railroad bridge near Haiphong, North Viet Nam's largest port. The area, part of the Tona-Haiphong industrial complex, has been hit by U.S. planes daily in the past week.

On the ground, military action against the Communists seemed almost at a standstill.

U.S. spokesmen announced the number of Americans killed in combat last week declined to 10 compared with 91 dead, the second highest toll of the war, in the previous seven-day period. The number of Americans wounded dropped to 126, compared with 316 in the Dec. 12-18 period, and 6 were listed as missing in action, one less than the previous week.

South Vietnamese losses for the week were 239 killed in action, 425 wounded and 77 missing, the spokesmen said. Communist losses were given as 929 killed and 89 wounded. This gave the Allies a 3.6-to-1 kill ratio over the Viet Cong.

Beginning Jan. 1, Judge Sterling M. Lamb's yearly pay will be increased to $10,000 under provisions set down by the State Legislature. His previous annual salary was $8,580.

According to Council, the city provides 60 per cent of the judge's salary and the county 40 per cent.

Another ordinance gaining approval increased jurisdiction of the Circleville Board of Public Utilities to include the duties of managing and operating city sewer lines. The Service Department previously handled the sewer maintenance program.

AN APPROPRIATION ordinance was passed authorizing $450 for the purchase of land for the extension of Cedar Heights and Edward Roads. The right-of-ways will be acquired from Joe Moats.

A resolution was adopted calling for the installation of street lights at Kimberly Place and Meadow Drive next to Old Route 23.

Red 'Truce'

Secretary of State Dean Rusk said last week that the whole affair was up to U.S. and South Vietnamese authorities in Saigon.

However, the matter of advice or instruction to U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge and Gen. William C. Westmoreland has been under consideration for several days.

Acceptance of the Communist proposal has been urged both inside and outside the United States.

Last Christmas Eve, Viet Cong terrorists blew up the Brink Hotel, a U.S. officers billet in Saigon, killing two Americans and wounding 68.

Earlier this year, there was a five-day lull as the Vietnamese observed the lunar new year. The lull ended with a Communist attack on Pleiku that killed seven Americans and wounded 109.

Mun Judge Salary Set By Council

An ordinance fixing the salary of Circleville's Municipal Court judge was one of several legislative actions approved last night by City Council.

Beginning Jan. 1, Judge Sterling M. Lamb's yearly pay will be increased to $10,000 under provisions set down by the State Legislature. His previous annual salary was $8,580.

According to Council, the city provides 60 per cent of the judge's salary and the county 40 per cent.

Another ordinance gaining approval increased jurisdiction of the Circleville Board of Public Utilities to include the duties of managing and operating city sewer lines. The Service Department previously handled the sewer maintenance program.

AN APPROPRIATION ordinance was passed authorizing $450 for the purchase of land for the extension of Cedar Heights and Edward Roads. The right-of-ways will be acquired from Joe Moats.

A resolution was adopted calling for the installation of street lights at Kimberly Place and Meadow Drive next to Old Route 23.

However, the matter of advice or instruction to U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge and Gen. William C. Westmoreland has been under consideration for several days.

Last Christmas Eve, Viet Cong terrorists blew up the Brink Hotel, a U.S. officers billet in Saigon, killing two Americans and wounding 68.

Earlier this year, there was a five-day lull as the Vietnamese observed the lunar new year. The lull ended with a Communist attack on Pleiku that killed seven Americans and wounded 109.

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP) — Bowling Green State University has begun deferring all new applications for freshman enrollment in the September 1966 semester. Already having 3,700 applicants and room for only 3,000 freshmen next fall term, the school began deferring women applicants Oct. 25 and male candidates this week.

Prospective new students still can apply for admission to the coming summer session or the semester beginning February 1967—or to fall matriculation at BGSU branches in Bryan, Fostoria, Fremont and Sandusky.

Five of their classmates at St. Judge's School also were vortoring on the thin ice on their way home, and most of them landed in the water when the ice gave way. One, Richard Zirn, pulled four others to safety.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey says he has a "new addition to the family."

Humphrey displayed the new member to newsmen Tuesday as he officially opened his new office in the Federal Building in downtown Minneapolis.

He held up a black, two-month-old poodle and let it lick his face. He said the tiny dog was the Humphreys' Christmas gift to each other.

"Murial (Mrs. Humphrey) told me the dog was house broken," he said, "but somehow or another it had retrogression."

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President and Mrs. Harry S. Truman arrived Tuesday to spend the Christmas holidays with their daughter Margaret and her family. They were met at the airport by their son-in-law, Clifton Daniel, and a grandson, Clifton, 8.

Hoover Dam Observing Its 30th Birthday

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — In a time when aerospace activities dominate, automation is a problem, and plastic clothes a possibility, Hoover Dam seems like pretty tame stuff.

But the dam is one of man's greater achievements and this year marks its 30th anniversary of bringing order to the rampaging Colorado River, maker of the Grand Canyon and lifeline of the desert Southwest.

Until Hoover Dam, the 1,400-mile long river flowed through seven states, sometimes barely, other times causing floods such as in 1905 when the river sunk the entire, rich Imperial Valley of Southern California.

Now the dam's reservoir, Lake Mead, holds two year's river flow. Colorado water irrigates most southwestern crops and its energy lights millions of homes. And, the Bureau of Reclamation says, the Colorado will flood no more.

The problem of making the Colorado respond to rein for the first time was fantastic. The solution, the dam, ranks as one of the seven engineering wonders of America, according to the American Society of Civil Engineers.

Basically, the builders — six giant Western construction companies — hacked three miles of diversion tunnels through the steep, solid-rock sides of Boulder Canyon, built one earthen dam to divert the waters into the tunnels around the dam site, built another dam to stop the water from backing up, then built Hoover itself.

Some uncommon logistics were involved. Some 5,000 depression-era workers were hired and brought through Las Vegas. Boulder City was built near the dam to house them. A railroad and highway were built as were two concrete-making plants, a gravel-screening plant, an aerial tramway between the canyon walls, and power lines strung from San Bernardino, Calif., 200 miles away.

When all was done, the then-highest dam in the world stood 60 stories high, 660-feet thick at the base, 45 at the crest, holding back Lake Mead which could cover all New York State with water one foot deep.

Hoover was the first of many great dams along the Colorado and forerunner of higher dams in Switzerland, Rhodesia and India.

The dam itself was finished in two years — two years ahead of schedule — at a cost of $48 million.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt dedicated the dam in May of 1935, opening new vistas for an area sometimes called the American Sahara.

Called Hoover Dam when construction was started in 1928, Roosevelt dedicated it in 1935 as "Boulder Dam" and that name continued until April 1947 when President Harry S. Truman made it Hoover Dam.

And the dam refutes Army Lt. J. C. Ives, sent to look over the river by the War Department in 1858. Ives looked at this part of a young nation's winnings in the Mexican War and observed in his report:

"The region is, of course, altogether valueless.

"Ours is the first, and will doubtless be the last, party of whites to visit this profitless locality."

Hidden Years Detailed

Jesus' Boyhood Filled With Work, Training

Editors Note: From Egypt, the family of Jesus returned to Galilee. What was life like there for the boy growing up? In this third of five articles on the Hidden Years of Jesus, Associated Press Religion Writer George Cornell pieces together information of those boyhood years.

By GEORGE CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

A warm hearth. . . a big outdoors. . . the scampering . . . the tumbling . . . the duties to do . . . a school, the budding questions. . . a dependable father and a tender mother. These are the bulwarks of a boy, as they were to Jesus.

He always cherished the perspective of childhood. " . . . to such belongs the kingdom of God," He later described it.

His family, harried hither and von for at least the first three years of His life, finally gravitated back to tribal territory, the rustic village of Nazareth in Galilee.

This wasn't what Joseph had intended, considering past tension he had faced there over his marriage.

On returning from Egypt, he had planned to take his family back to Bethlehem, but when he learned that Archelaus, a rapacious son of Herod, was Rome's new ruler in southern Israel, "he was afraid to go there," as Scripture notes.

Turmoil raged in that region, with heathen occupation legions executing rebellious Jewish throngs en masse. Resistance also smoldered in Galilee, but it was more remote from reprisals.

This was particularly so of Nazareth, a bucolic little town of plowmen, shopkeepers, field hirelings and sheep raisers.

There, as he related in primitive Christian writings not accepted in the church's later compilation of the Gospels, the boy Jesus roamed the hills and wooded draws, gathered firewood, drew water, squatted by a brook and moulded toys of wet clay.

He took falls, once from a thatched roof; He helped a man who sliced his foot with an axe, frankly mixed colors in a dyer's vat, scuffled with other children and got hit by a stone by one of them. The accounts say He knew the whirling precision of a slingshot himself.

Joseph at times reprimanded him, once for talking back to a woman who objected to his wading on the sabbath.

"For thy sake," Jesus assertedly responded to Joseph, "I will hold my peace."

He was part of a big clan in Nazareth. Scripture mentions sisters and brothers, terms often meaning cousins. Non-Canonical literature also lists four brothers and two sisters, describing them as older children of Joseph by a previous marriage.

It is said the youngest of them, James, was brought up by Mary, along with Jesus, and the two boys worked with Joseph, their muscles toughening as they wielded the axe, adze and chisel.

Other kinspeople also lived nearby, including the more prosperous Zebedees, who had a fishing fleet on the Lake of Galilee 15 miles away. Two high-strung sons, James and John, eventually became apostles of their cousin, Jesus.

The house in Nazareth was lean in possessions, but abundant in devotion.

It was dug into the limestone mountainside, with niches in the walls for oil lamps and utensils, chests for clothing, a grilled fire pit, and mattresses of rushes.

Fixed to the doorpost was a mezuzah, symbol of divine guardianship over all Jewish homes.

They ate kosher foods—mostly barley bread, cheese, spiced vegetables, fruit, fish and poultry, and on festival days, muton. Like most women, Mary ground grain and cooked in an outdoor courtyard.

Faith permeated living. The rabbinical sages set about 100 benedictions accompany every sort of pleasure, work and activity, as commonplace as tying on a belt. The earth and all its functions were considered sacred, natural and supernatural combined.

Not a single sparrow falls, nor hair grows, without God's active concern, Jesus would later emphasized. He gleaned his parables — teaching lessons— from his boyhood surroundings, sowers, sprouting seeds, shepherds and workmen.

His exemplar as a "father," the sturdy old Joseph, gave the boy a new, vivid term for expressing the intimacy of the divine relationship, "our father . . ."

As a woodworker and joiner, Joseph would have earned about a drachma (20 cents) or two a day. Jesus must have gone with him regularly to fell timber and drag it back to the shop to be shaped into yokes and plowshares.

"It is just as necessary," the rabbis taught, "to teach one's on a manual trade as to feed him."

But the chief parental responsibility was to impart God's truths:

"You shall teach them diligently to your children, and shall talk of them when you sit in your house, and when you walk by the way, and when you lie down, and when you rise."

There also was more formal study, and Jesus' probing questions. "And the child grew and became strong, filled with wisdom and the favor of God was upon him," Scripture says. It also notes that there was a common saying about his craggly hometown:

"Can anything good come out of Nazareth?" Not normally, evidently.

Patman's Perennial Show

Just exactly what it is that Chariman Wright Patman of the Joint Economic Committee of Congress hopes to accomplish by his annual confrontation with Chairman William McChesney Martin of the Federal Reserve Board still is not clear. The perennial scene, often verging on comedy, has had so many repeats the audience knows the lines almost by heart.

By now it has been fairly well established that Mr. Patman is for low interest rates at all times, inflation or not. A majority of the Reserve Board governors, acting through Mr. Martin, are for higher rates when inflationary pressures bear heavily on the economy, as they certainly have been for months.

Actually, the Texan is challenging the basic premise that the Reserve Board must be free of political control, as did Treasury Secretary Snyder during President Truman's administration. He lost the fight and the board was divorced from the Treasury in the historic "accord" of 1951.

The Federal Reserve System is a creature of Congress. Accordingly, Mr. Patman, who has been a representative since 1928, should know that if he doesn't like the system he can change, or even abolish it, by legislative process. Well, let's say he can try.

Meanwhile, the tired production he has again staged was a waste of time. More pertinently, it did nothing for business confidence.

His Mind Cluttered with Trivia

By JERRY BUCK
NEW YORK (AP)—Remembrance of trivia is no trifling matter among the "in" people. And that being the case, it ought to make me high camp. It's about the only pop culture I'm up with.

In the years when I was thumbing through "Superman" and "The Flash" comic books and listening to "Jack Armstrong: the All-American boy" on radio, little did I realize I was soaking up trivia.

To play the game of trivia you must remember all the who-wrote-what and who-played-who details from the past that any normal human being should have forgotten.

The game usually goes something like this:

"Who was Bruce Wayne?"

"Batman, of course. And Dickie Grayson was Robin. Can you tell me who played Red Ryder in the movies?"

"Well, there was Wild Bill Elliott."

"And Don Red Barry."

I am a human time capsule from the late 1930s early 1940s. My mind is so cluttered with trivia from the past that I can't absorb any more. Somebody recently offered a quiz on contemporary trivia and I'm afraid I flunked it.

Who remembers that:

The Green Hornet, who was really newspaper publisher Britt Reid, had a manservant named Kato, who was first Japanese, then Filipino. Superman came from the planet Krypton and worked on the Daily Planet with Lois Lane as mild-mannered you-know-who. In the early days of "Terry and the Pirates" a central character was Pat Ryan.

Mr. District Attorney's secretary was Miss Miller and his investigator was Harrington. Steve Wilson edited the Illustrated Press in "Big Town". I played eight holes with her, watching her every move, and solved her problem for her. "There's a reason golf gives you headaches," he told her. "Every time you swing a club you hit yourself in the back of the neck."

And who could ever forget: Captain Marvel's other self was Billy Batson, who made the change by shouting "Shazam!" Captain Marvel Jr. as a crippled paperboy whose magic word was "Captain Marvel." Shazam was an acronym made up of the first letters of names from myths and legends, among them Samson, Hercules and Zeus. As for the others, don't ask me. I can't remember everything.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

CRAIG WOOD recalls that when he was giving golf lessons at the Hollywood Club a Mrs. Gruber came to him complaining that although golf intrigued her, she came home with a headache after every round. Wood played eighteen holes with her, watching her every move, and solved her problem for her. "There's a reason golf gives you headaches," he told her. "Every time you swing a club you hit yourself in the back of the neck."

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Why is there always a gain of weight after giving up smoking?

Tobacco, in any form, tends to depress the appetite. When smoking is stopped, there is a tendency to eat more frequently in larger quantities. This, with in-between meal nibbling, accounts for the sudden gain of weight.

The weight gain has been attributed by some to water retention and changes in metabolism. These reasons for the gain of weight have not been universally accepted by physicians.

People who stop smoking must adhere to a rigid diet at that time if they are to maintain their weight at a steady level.

My 16-month-old daughter seems to have a craving to eat dirt or sand. Despite my punishment, she continues to eat it. What causes such a craving? What can I do for her?

Some children for unexplained reasons develop a craving for dirt, crayons, wall plaster and for almost anything that they can fit into their mouths. This strange appetite is technically known as pica. Sometimes children eat flakes of paint off walls and cribs. There is a danger of lead poisoning, if the paints are not free of lead.

There may be special or emotional needs, even at the age of 16 months, that are responsible for her unusual behavior. The advice of your physician is imperative. Punishment that has no meaning to her may only perpetuate or make worse the problem that you now are facing.

Is a paraffin bath good treatment for arthritis of the hands? People with some forms of arthritis are made more comfortable with all forms of heat, applied to the hands and wrists. Paraffin baths seem to be very soothing for arthritic hands because the heat is retained for a long time.

Hot compresses heat bulbs, heat baths and diathermy seem to relieve the spasms of the muscles and bring comfort to aching joints.

Paraffin baths can be used safely at home only under the direction of the physician who prescribed them. This and other forms of heat alleviate the pain, but do not cure or control the progress of arthritis.

The dose and the time intervals of drugs are carefully calculated for each person. The doctor takes into consideration the age and weight before deciding how much of a drug should be given at each time. For best results, don't depart from the exact instructions on the prescription.

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP)—The prospect for Christmas is all merry—the most prosperity ever for the most people. But the outlook for New Year's Day is that the nation may have to make some irksome resolutions.

Problems and uncertainties are piling up almost as fast as all the good news about how well most things are going right now.

The federal budget, due shortly, is a big one—with most attention in the business world right now centered on the chance of new or higher taxes. A rising U.S. Treasury deficit may call for some new fiscal resolutions.

The stock market is enjoying huge volume of trading—but worrying about the rise in speculative buying, and trying to digest the meaning of the record number of shares being sold short by those who presumably think prices will drop.

Profits were never higher—but the talk of a squeeze on profit margins is making many company heads wonder if they can find new ways next year to cut costs.

Business spending plans for next year have swelled fat in recent weeks—but higher interest rates, maybe higher taxes, and the very age of the economic upswing itself is causing many to worry. Business executives want to swing along with the boom, but they don't want to repeat the big expansion spree of the late 1950s that left them with idle capacity.

Companies with overseas enterprises, or planning to set up some, are hoping to spend more next year—but are wondering how to live with the new government guidelines on investing fewer dollars abroad.

The deficit in the U.S. balance of payments has been cut this year below last year's $3 billion in the red—but the pressures are rising again. And the new year could bring new resolutions for turning the tide of dollars back to U.S. shores.

Personal income is at a record high with Americans getting more, spending more, saving more than ever—but the fly in that ointment is called inflation. A big jump in the cost of living is far from a sure thing—but a continuing rise in many prices and fees is considered likely.

Personal debt also is rising, with more Americans confident their future incomes can cover repayment of loans on a monthly basis—but the problem some see is that the cost of borrowing is going up. And a further threat is that if serious inflation really did come the monetary authorities might move to make credit scarce instead of fairly abundant as now.

Controlling 'Offensive' War

By John Chamberlain

For a long time now I have had in my desk a "peace" paper written by Howard G. Kurtz, a former airman, and his wife, the Rev. Harriet B. Kurtz, who collectively call themselves "War Control Planners, Inc."

The notion of the Kurtzes is that modern science is approaching the point at which it would be possible to "two-platoon" the military capability of any big power. Our President, so the Kurtzes aver, "requires not one but two distinct military capabilities, in the same sense that a victorious football coach must have superior defense power, and in addition must have a quite different superior forward power."

Continuing this line of thought, the Kurtzes advocate a general pooling of the sum total of the big powers' "forward power" with an international "war safety control board," presumably under some such body as the U.N. But, just to make sure that the international peace-keeping body would not misuse the tremendous force at its disposal, the Kurtzes would let each separate nation retain individual control of its "superior defense power."

a "defense power" that stands apart from "forward power." But if it were possible to develop a foolproof anti-missile missile system the Kurtzes' argument would take on a certain plausibility.

Alas for the Kurtzes, a committee of the White House Conference on International Cooperation has urged that the United States seek a three-year moratorium with the Soviet Union on the building of an anti-missile defense system, or some reason that is totally outside normal human logic, Jerome B. Wiesner, a former White House Science adviser, thinks the effort to perfect an anti-missile missile would lead to a "new panic" in the arms race. According to the Wiesner way of thinking, the way to "panic" a population is to provide it with all the "superior defense power" that it can possibly get. As any boxer with a glass chin could tell Jerome Wiesner, this is Alice in Wonderland logic with a vengeance.

The Pentagon's own reason for not pressing ahead with an anti-missile missile system is economic, for the cost of developing such "superior defense power" is put at somewhere between eight and twenty billion dollars. Between Jerome Wiesner and the coast-conscious Department of Defense, it looks as though the "two-platoon" military capability were not quite on the horizon.

The contemporary impossibility of distinguishing between "forward power" and "defense power" is illustrated by the development of the new military transport jets which can combine in an Operation Big Lift to deliver a whole division to either an offensive or a defensive front in a very few hours. In West Berlin, we have an exposed position that comes with in the defensive perimeter of the free nations. When the Russians, back in 1948 and 1949, clamped their embargo on ground access to West Berlin, General Lucius Clay mobilized all the old C-54s and C-47s that he could get his hands on to bring food and fuel to his beleaguered outpost. The Berlin Airlift of the time moved a total of more than two million tons into West Berlin within a space of thirteen months. This was "defensive power." But to the Russians it must have indicated strong offensive potentiality.

Today the power that is inherent in air lift capacity, whether for offense or defense, is vastly multiplied. The Lockheed Air craft people, who will shortly be building the new C-5A heavy jet air transport capable of ferrying 600 troops at a whack at 550-mile-an-hour speed, say that if General Lucius Clay had had their new plane back in 1948, he could have flummoxed the Russians in short order. Ten C-5As will be able to handle what it took 140 C-54s to handle in 1948.

What this will do to arm our defensive foreign policy should be a caution to Kosygin and Brezhnev if they are meditating any new monkey business in Berlin. But is the C-5A itself "defensive power" or "offensive power"? Solomon himself couldn't tell the difference.

Patman's Perennial Show

Just exactly what it is that Chariman Wright Patman of the Joint Economic Committee of Congress hopes to accomplish by his annual confrontation with Chairman William McChesney Martin of the Federal Reserve Board still is not clear. The perennial scene, often verging on comedy, has had so many repeats the audience knows the lines almost by heart.

By now it has been fairly well established that Mr. Patman is for low interest rates at all times, inflation or not. A majority of the Reserve Board governors, acting through Mr. Martin, are for higher rates when inflationary pressures bear heavily on the economy, as they certainly have been for months.

Actually, the Texan is challenging the basic premise that the Reserve Board must be free of political control, as did Treasury Secretary Snyder during President Truman's administration. He lost the fight and the board was divorced from the Treasury in the historic "accord" of 1951.

The Federal Reserve System is a creature of Congress. Accordingly, Mr. Patman, who has been a representative since 1928, should know that if he doesn't like the system he can change, or even abolish it, by legislative process. Well, let's say he can try.

Meanwhile, the tired production he has again staged was a waste of time. More pertinently, it did nothing for business confidence.

His Mind Cluttered with Trivia

By JERRY BUCK
NEW YORK (AP) — Remembrance of trivia is no trifling matter among the "in" people. And that being the case, it ought to make me high camp. It's about the only pop culture I'm up with.

In the years when I was thumbing through "Superman" and "The Flash" comic books and listening to "Jack Armstrong: The All-American Boy" on radio, little did I realize I was soaking up culture.

To play the game of trivia you must remember all the who-wrote-what and who-played-who details from the past that any normal human being should have forgotten.

The game usually goes something like this:

"Who was Bruce Wayne?"
"Batman, of course. And Dickie Grayson was Robin. Can you tell me who played Red Ryder in the movies?"

"Well, there was Wild Bill Elliott."

"And Don Red Barry."
I am a human time capsule from the late 1930s early 1940s. My mind is so cluttered with trivia from the past that I can't absorb any more. Somebody recently offered a quiz on contemporary trivia and I'm afraid I flunked it.

Who remembers that: The Green Hornet, who was really newspaper publisher Britt Reid, had a manservant named Kato, who was first Japanese, then Filipino. Superman came from the planet Krypton and worked on the Daily Planet with Lois Lane as mild-mannered you-know-who. In the early days of "Terry and the Pirates" a central character was Pat Ryan.

Mr. District Attorney's secretary was Miss Miller and his investigator was Harrington. Steve Wilson edited the Illustrated Press in "Big Town" with the help of star reporter Lorelei Kilbourne. Big Little Books had cartoon characters up in one corner who actually moved when you flipped the pages.

And who could ever forget: Captain Marvel's other self was Billy Batson, who made the change by shouting "Shazam!" Captain Marvel Jr. as a crippled paperboy whose magic word was "Captain Marvel." Shazam was an acronym made up of the first letters of names from myths and legends, among them Samson, Hercules and Zeus. As for the others, don't ask me. I can't remember everything.

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP) — The prospect for Christmas is all merry — the most prosperity ever for the most people. But the outlook for New Year's Day is that the nation may have to make some irksome resolutions.

Problems and uncertainties are piling up almost as fast as all the good news about how well most things are going right now.

The federal budget, due shortly, is a big one — with most attention in the business world right now centered on the chance of new or higher taxes. A rising U.S. Treasury deficit may call for some new fiscal resolutions.

Business executives want to swing along with the boom, but they don't want to repeat the big expansion spree of the late 1950s that left them with idle capacity.

Companies with overseas enterprises, or planning to set up some, are hoping to spend more next year — but are wondering how to live with the new government guidelines on investing fewer dollars abroad.

The deficit in the U.S. balance of payments has been cut this year below last year's $3 billion in the red — but the pressures are rising again. And the new year could bring new resolutions for turning the tide of dollars back to U.S. shores.

And a further threat is that if serious inflation really did come the monetary authorities might move to make credit scarce instead of fairly abundant as now.

But, just to make sure that the international peace-keeping body would not misuse the tremendous force at its disposal, the Kurtzes would let each separate nation retain individual control of its "superior defense power."

Religious Customs Topic Of Garden Club Program

Mrs. William Defenbaugh and Mrs. Ray Carroll presented the Christmas program at the December meeting of the Pickaway County Garden Club held in the home of Mrs. Collis Young, E. Main St. Mrs. John Eshelman introduced the speakers who used as their theme "Keeping Christ in Christmas."

During the course of the discussion, Mrs. Defenbaugh and Mrs. Carroll showed arrangements and works of art they had made to illustrate the different religious customs used in celebrating Christmas.

Mrs. Carroll stated that Christmas began with Christ's Nativity and that in modern times the celebration of His birthday is sometimes abused. Mrs. Defenbaugh went on to say that the earliest known picture is the Nativity scene (about 380 AD) which served as a wall decoration in the burial chamber of a Christian family, discovered in St. Sebastian's Catacombs in 1877 in Rome.

The tradition of using holly at Christmas is that the red berries signify the blood from the crown of thorns and the green leaves eternal life. Today the holly wreaths with a star of light in the center symbolize the joyful mysteries of the Incarnation and the sorrowful mysteries of the Cross and Passion.

Other traditions illustrated in arrangements were the carolers, creche, evergreen tree and decorations, mistletoe and Chrismos.

The home was decorated throughout with holiday arrangements. Those responsible for the various points of interest were Mrs. Kenneth Hannan, door decoration; Mrs. Robert McCoy, mantle arrangement; Miss Ruth Montelius, coffee table arrangement and Mrs. Miller Dunkel, dining table arrangement.

Mrs. Alden Bray presided during the business session. Members voted to give $25 toward the downtown Christmas lighting and decorations. Mrs. James Stallings, Mrs. Willson Leist, Mrs. John Eshelman and Mrs. Eugene Hanson were named to a committee to find a possible permanent meeting place.

A discussion was held on the Garden Club of Ohio Convention which will take place April 12-13 in Columbus. Members were reminded that dues should be paid to Mrs. Miller Dunkel, treasurer, before Jan. 1.

Mrs. Karl Seyfarth and Mrs. Guy Campbell of the civic committee reported that the Mound Street Home and Hospital Christmas decorations were being completed. She thanked those who donated ornaments to be used on the tree.

Refreshments in keeping with the holiday season were served from the dining room table. Mrs. Bray presided at the punch bowl. Hostesses were, Mrs. Harold Defenbaugh, chairman, Mrs. Emmett Barnhart, Mrs. Elsie Chester, Mrs. John Eshelman, Mrs. Hulse Hays, Mrs. Carson Horton, Mrs. A. P. McCoard, Mrs. Collis Young, Mrs. Harold Edwards and Mrs. Gene Crawford.

Personals

Richard Mackenzie, a freshman at the University of Alaska, Fairbanks, is spending the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Mackenzie, 506 Forest Drive. He will return to Alaska Dec. 31.

Pvt. Charles D. Leist, son of Mrs. Roy E. Leist, 186 Nicholas Drive, will arrive home tomorrow to spend the Christmas holidays with his family. He is undergoing basic training at Fort Gordon, Ga.

Keep a set of round-bowl fractional measuring spoons in your kitchen — you'll find them useful. For example, the 1-teaspoon size may be used for making melon balls in head of a regular melonball cutter; the tablespoon size does a good job when you are making "drop" cookies.

Dear Abby: To the Point!

DEAR ABBY: Please answer a question for me.

Can you, in brief to-the-point style, give teen-agers the key to being popular with both sexes?

MOTHER OF THREE

DEAR MOTHER: The "key" to being popular with both sexes is: Be kind. Be honest. Be tactful. If you can't be beautiful (or handsome), be well-groomed, tastefully attired, trim of figure, and keep a smile on your face. Be clean in body and mind. If you're not a "brain," try harder. If you're not a great athlete you can be a good sport. Try to be a stand-out in something. If you can't dance, sing or play an instrument. Think for yourself, but respect the rules. Be generous with kind words and affectionate gestures, but save the heavy artillery for later. You'll be glad you did. If you need help, ask God. If you don't need anything, thank God.

DEAR ABBY: Will you please enlighten me about the custom some women have in offering their cheek when greeting another woman? Do they expect the other woman to kiss it, or merely to brush it with her own? Why don't they simply kiss the other woman's cheek rather than put her in the position of having to do the kissing first? Is it a case of who offers her cheek first? I have a relative who never kisses me, but always offers ME her cheek. To me this seems rather presumptuous and having air of bestowing a privilege. Isn't she in effect saying, "You may kiss me!" What is your thinking on this? I'd also like to know how other women feel about it.

PUZZLED

DEAR PUZZLED: All sincere greetings are spontaneous. This goes for kissing on the lips, cheeks, brushing the cheek, the hearty handshake and the bear hug. To analyze a presumably affectionate greeting is to question its sincerity. Most women offer a cheek for the other party to press to her own. This leaves the impression of affection without the impression of lipstick.

DEAR ABBY: I am desperate for some help. My husband doesn't realize that our children are human beings with thoughts and feelings. At dinner time he harps constantly for them to hurry, hurry — as though mealtime were some unpleasant chore to get rid of as quickly as possible. If they aren't finished with every crust of bread by the time he's shoveling in his dinner, he spansks them and sends them straight to bed. The children are 3, 5, and 7. They watch him out of the corner of their eyes like frightened little animals hoping he won't hit them for chewing too loudly. He says he is teaching them table manners they will never forget. He is a good, sober, church-going man outside of this. What can I do?

DEAR DESPERATE: Your husband is teaching the children something they will "never forget" — but it's not table manners. Unless he, himself, is not mentally deranged, your husband should be taught something about patience, kindness and rearing children. Since you are "desperate", he has obviously bullied you, too. This "Good, sober, church-going" man should take a tip from his friendly neighborhood clergyman.

3 Wayward Collegians On Probation

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — The judge has put them on good behavior, and now it's up to the University of Notre Dame whether it too will be lenient to three wayward reserve football players.

Notre Dame will have a re-admission hearing Jan. 4 for Ohioans Jonathan P. Butash of Akron and Timothy M. Swearingen Jr. of Columbus along with Gerald Wisne of Dearborn, Mich.

The three admitted getting drunk and raiding Purdue dormitories last Sept. 25, a few hours after Purdue had beaten the Irish on the gridiron. The university suspended them pending outcome of their court case.

Special Judge Louis Pearlman told the boys, each 19, not to drink until they're 21 — and "if you get into trouble over anything, any time, I personally will see that you serve the sentence."

They could have drawn up to six months' imprisonment and $500 fines on the third-degree burglary charge on which Pearlman said he was withholding judgment.

Flavor a cream sauce with tarragon and serve with steamed salmon.

Santa and the Zabbazara Bus

BY LUCRECE BEALE

Synopsis: None of the Voodoo man's magic works on Mr. D and the boy. He thinks they are Santa and the Princess and finally admits their power is greater than his.

CHAPTER FIFTEEN THE VOODOO MAN'S

The little boy waved the coat hanger around his head. He tried to think of some magic words that would frighten the Voodoo man. All he could think of were nursery rhymes, and he didn't think they would sound too impressive.

He turned to Mr. D and said, 'Santa, will you kindly cast a spell over this wicked creature? I will wave the wand.'

Mr. D was taken by surprise. He couldn't think of a single magic word. But suddenly the names of all the streets he had called out during the years he had driven his bus down Main Street came crowding into his mind.

'Dunrobbin, Dalonega, Wapakineta, Walbonding, Wisim-ing.'

He shouted out the names of the streets in his fine old bus driver's voice. The little boy waved the coat hanger wildly. The Voodoo man was frightened nearly out of his wits.

'Stop it! Stop it! I'll tell you any secret. What good is it now anyway?'

He sat down on the floor in front of the throne.

Mr. D stopped shouting. The little boy put down the coat hanger. They leaned over the Voodoo man and hardly dared to breathe. This was the secret they had to know. Until they did neither Santa Claus nor the Princess nor any fairy creature was safe.

The Voodoo man slowly drew the shoe off his right foot. Then he drew off the sock. On his long big toe there was a ring of woven hair.

'There it is,' he said sadly. 'It is made of hairs taken from the beard of the fiercest ghoul in witchdom. I lived with him in the bottom of a well, and plucked his whiskers one by one while he slept. Since he slept only one night a year it took me 70 years. But it was worth it, for when I had made the ring the ghoul was my slave and I had the power to conquer all of fairyland.

The ring is made from the beard of the fiercest ghoul in witchdom.

'I have turned the Santa Land workers to stone. I have put the Fairy Queen to sleep. I have turned all her subjects to mice. I have been to the bottom of the sea and changed the mermaids into sardines.

'There is no spell I could not cast. Now I find your power is greater than mine, after all.'

He began to pull his sock back on. Mr. D and the boy looked at each other. They had to get the ring. As long as it stayed on the Voodoo man's toe, his power remained even though he did not know it.

'Wait,' said Mr. D. 'Let us look more closely at the ring.'

He reached down and took the Voodoo man's foot. The boy leaned over and grasped the toe. Mr. D's whiskers and the boy's curls brushed against the bottom of the Voodoo man's foot. 'Stop! You're tickling me!' cried the Voodoo man. Before he could stop himself he kicked out his leg and sent both Mr. D and the boy sprawling.

Mr. D's whiskers slid to the top of his head and the boy's golden wig came all the way off and landed on the Voodoo man's toe.

Mr. D looked at the boy. The boy looked at Mr. D. Then they both looked at the Voodoo man and they knew everything was over.

The Voodoo man was on his bare feet hopping up and down with joy.

'You're not Santa Claus! You are not the Princess! That's why my secret power didn't work!' He rushed out of the hall screaming, 'I'll find them! There's no place they can hide from me.'

Santa and the Zabbazara Bus

BY LUCRECE BEALE

Synopsis: None of the Voodoo man's magic works on Mr. D and the boy. He thinks they are Santa and the Princess and finally admits their power is greater than his.

CHAPTER FIFTEEN
THE VOODOO MAN'S

The little boy waved the coat hanger around his head. He tried to think of some magic words that would frighten the Voodoo man. All he could think of were nursery rhymes, and he didn't think they would sound too impressive.

He turned to Mr. D and said, 'Santa, will you kindly cast a spell over this wicked creature? I will wave the wand.'

Mr. D was taken by surprise. He couldn't think of a single magic word. But suddenly the names of all the streets he had called out during the years he had driven his bus down Main Street came crowding into his mind.

"Dunrobbin. Dalonega. Wapakineta. Walhonding. Wisming."

He shouted out the names of the streets in his fine old bus driver's voice. The little boy waved the coat hanger wildly. The Voodoo man was frightened nearly out of his wits.

"Stop it! Stop it! I'll tell you any secret. What good is it now anyway?"

"He sat down on the floor in front of the throne."

Mr. D stopped shouting. The little boy put down the coat hanger. They leaned over the Voodoo man and hardly dared to breathe. This was the secret they had to know. Until they did neither Santa Claus nor the Princess nor any fairy creature was safe.

The Voodoo man slowly drew the shoe off his right foot. Then he drew off the sock. On his long big toe there was a ring of woven hair.

"There it is," he said sadly. "It is made of hairs taken from the beard of the fiercest ghoul in witchdom."

Four Indicted for Burning Draft Cards

BEN F. BRIAN JR.

DAVID SCHNEIDER

Brian, Schneider Named To Supervisory Positions

Officials of the local Du Pont plant today announced the appointment of two men to supervisory posts.

Ben F. Brian Jr. has been named area supervisor in the "K apton" manufacturing plant. David E. Schneider has been appointed assistant area supervisor in "Mylar" manufacturing.

Brian joined Du Pont in 1953 as an engineer in the company's service division. He has held posts in Wilmington, Del., the Old Hickory and Columbia installations in Tennessee and the plant at Waynesboro, Va.

His previous experience in manufacturing was at Old Hickory where he served as a foreman and shift supervisor.

HE CAME to Circleville in 1961 as a manufacturing shift supervisor. He later was appointed assistant area supervisor in the "Mylar" plant.

Brian is a graduate of Georgia Tech where he earned a bachelor degree in general engineering and a masters in mechanical engineering. He served in the U. S. Air Force for two years, attaining the rank of 1st lieutenant.

He and his wife, Betty live at Knollwood Village. They have three children, Deborah Lee, 10, Cheryl Lynn, 8, and Ben F. Jr., 5.

The area supervisor is district Boy Scout chairman, a member of the First Methodist Church and the official board and youth activities group of the church. He is president of the Nicholas Drive PTA and the Knollwood Village Assn.

Schneider became associated with Du Pont in 1959 as an engineer in the technical section. He later served as a shift supervisor in "Mylar" operations and a supervisor in the accounting department.

A graduate of Purdue University, he earned a bachelor degree in mechanical engineering. He served in the U. S. Army for 1 1/2 years and was discharged as a 1st lieutenant.

HE IS a member of the First Methodist Church and serves as a district commissioner for Pickaway County Boy Scouts.

Schneider and his wife, Sue, reside at 310 Walnut Creek Pike. They have two children, Julia Dawn, 4, and Jennifer Lynn, 1.

WASHINGTON (AP) — At the White House information is like a well-supervised reservoir. When there is a leak President Johnson wants to know in a hurry where it came from.

He likes to do the revealing himself, when he has something to say. This probably explains what otherwise would be an astonishing situation.

In these closing days of 1965, just before Johnson in January begins handing Congress his programs for 1966, practically nothing is known about them. Yet, it can be assumed he and his aides have long been busy on them.

There has been speculation about a tax boost next year to help pay for the Viet Nam war; but there was also speculation that there wouldn't be. This is hardly a leak. It sounds more like noise in the pipes.

Because Republicans have been calling for less spending, and Johnson people have been talking of ways to reduce expenses, he may be waiting to see how the books balance before he comes up with new programs that need more money.

But he has turned this into a rather dry period on news all around.

In the past nine days he has had two-day meetings each with three important foreign leaders: Pakistan's President Mohammed Ayub Khan, Britain's Prime Minister Harold Wilson, and West Germany's chancellor, Ludwig Erhard.

All three meetings seem to have been pleasant, and showed Johnson was taking a very direct part in foreign affairs, but if they settled anything it wasn't clear from the communiques they issued.

This very vagueness, although that may not have been its purpose, left Johnson free to make any disclosures he wants later. There were no leaks.

First, he met with Pakistan's president and the two men later called their discussions "frank, wide-ranging, and productive." They didn't explain what "productive" meant.

They did agree on the need for peace between India and Pakistan but everyone except Red China would probably agree on that. It was the kind of agreement that could have been reached by long-distance telephone.

Then Johnson huddled with Wilson who described their talks as "fruitful" and "brisk." But what that meant wasn't explained. "Fruitful" probably meant more an exchange of views than definite agreements.

Johnson's talks with Erhard ended Tuesday, after which they agreed, they said, that Germany "and other interested partners in the (NATO) alliance should have an appropriate part of the nuclear defense."

But nobody explained what "appropriate" meant. This apparently meant that maybe something could be worked out later.

At a dinner Johnson proposed the United States and West Germany join in an "exploration of space," perhaps a "probe to the sun, and another, a probe to Jupiter." How was also left to the future.

Nobody is going to land on the sun and Jupiter is believed incapable of supporting a manned landing. But one of its 13 moons might turn out to be a good stopping-off place some day.

In 1775, the First Continental Congress named officers of the new Navy. Ezek Hopkins of Newport, R.I., was placed in command.

In 1807, Congress passed the embargo law, aimed at cutting off all trade with Europe. It was abandoned after a year's trial.

In 1944, German paratroopers isolated Bastogne, Belgium, surrounding the 101st Airborne Division headed by Gen. Anthony McAuliffe.

Ten years ago—Floods raging in northern California, southern Oregon and western Nevada were to bring a death toll of 14 and millions of dollars in property damage by Dec. 26.

Five years ago — The State Department, announcing U.S. support of the Boun Oum regime in Laos, said it was done to enable the royal Laotian army to maintain the integrity and the independence of Laos.

One year ago—Pope Paul VI, in a Christmas message, appealed for an end to racism, nationalism and social inequality among all mankind.

Signed Up Now in Medicare Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Social Security Administration says 8,368,587 persons over 65 have enrolled for the voluntary medical care coverage under the medicare program.

The agency says that as of Dec. 11 it had completely processed 9.4 million responses of 10.1 million received.

Medicare information was sent to 15.1 million persons. They are those who receive either Social Security or railroad retirement benefits.

Another 4 million persons, however, aren't receiving either of those benefits and must be contacted to be advised of the medicare program.

In order to receive coverage from the effective date of the program next July 1, persons already 65 must enroll by March 31.

BEN F. BRIAN JR.

DAVID SCHNEIDER

Brian, Schneider Named To Supervisory Positions

Officials of the local Du Pont plant today announced the appointment of two men to supervisory posts.

Ben F. Brian Jr. has been named area supervisor in the "Kapton" manufacturing plant. David E. Schneider has been appointed assistant area supervisor in "Mylar" manufacturing.

Brian joined Du Pont in 1953 as an engineer in the company's service division. He has held posts in Wilmington, Del., the Old Hickory and Columbia installations in Tennessee and the plant at Waynesboro, Va.

His previous experience in manufacturing was at Old Hickory where he served as a foreman and shift supervisor.

HE CAME to Circleville in 1961 as a manufacturing shift supervisor. He later was appointed assistant area supervisor in the "Mylar" plant.

Brian is a graduate of Georgia Tech where he earned a bachelor degree in general engineering and a masters in mechanical engineering. He served in the U. S. Air Force for two years, attaining the rank of 1st lieutenant.

He and his wife, Betty live at Knollwood Village. They have three children, Deborah Lee, 10, Cheryl Lynn, 8, and Ben F. Jr., 11.

The area supervisor is district Boy Scout chairman, a member of the First Methodist Church and the official board and youth activities group of the church. He is president of the Nicholas Drive PTA and the Knollwood Village Assn.

Schneider became associated with Du Pont in 1959 as an engineer in the technical section. He later served as a shift supervisor in "Mylar" operations and a supervisor in the accounting department.

A graduate of Purdue University, he earned a bachelor degree in mechanical engineering. He served in the U. S. Army for 14 years and was discharged as a 1st lieutenant.

HE IS a member of the First Methodist Church and serves as a district commissioner for Pickaway County Boy Scouts.

Schneider and his wife, Sue, reside at 310 Walnut Creek Pike. They have two children, Julia Dawn, 4, and Jennifer Lynn, 1.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — At the White House information is like a well-supervised reservoir. When there is a leak President Johnson wants to know in a hurry where it came from.

He likes to do the revealing himself, when he has something to say. This probably explains what otherwise would be an astonishing situation.

In these closing days of 1965, just before Johnson in January begins handing Congress his programs for 1966, practically nothing is known about them. Yet, it can be assumed he and his aides have long been busy on them.

There has been speculation about a tax boost next year to help pay for the Viet Nam war; but there was also speculation that there wouldn't be. This is hardly a leak. It sounds more like noise in the pipes.

Because Republicans have been calling for less spending, and Johnson people have been talking of ways to reduce expenses, he may be waiting to see how the books balance before he comes up with new programs that need more money.

But he has turned this into a rather dry period on news all around.

In the past nine days he has had two-day meetings each with three important foreign leaders: Pakistan's President Mohammed Ayub Khan, Britain's Prime Minister Harold Wilson, and West Germany's chancellor, Ludwig Erhard.

All three meetings seem to have been pleasant, and showed Johnson was taking a very direct part in foreign affairs, but if they settled anything it wasn't clear from the communiques they issued.

This very vagueness, although that may not have been its purpose, left Johnson free to make any disclosures he wants later. There were no leaks.

First, he met with Pakistan's president and the two men later called their discussions "frank, wide-ranging, and productive." They didn't explain what "productive" meant.

They did agree on the need for peace between India and Pakistan but everyone except Red China would probably agree on that. It was the kind of agreement that could have been reached by long-distance telephone.

Then Johnson huddled with Wilson who described their talks as "fruitful" and "brisk." But what that meant wasn't explained. "Fruitful" probably meant more an exchange of views than definite agreements.

Johnson's talks with Erhard ended Tuesday, after which they agreed, they said, that Germany "and other interested partners in the (NATO) alliance should have an appropriate part of the nuclear defense."

But nobody explained what "appropriate" meant. This apparently meant that maybe something could be worked out later.

At a dinner Johnson proposed the United States and West Germany join in an "exploration of space," perhaps a "probe to the sun, and another, a probe to Jupiter." How was also left to the future.

Nobody is going to land on the sun and Jupiter is believed incapable of supporting a manned landing. But one of its 13 moons might turn out to be a good stopping-off place some day.

2 Murder Trials Due In Cincinnati Court

CINCINNATI (AP) — Ernest L. Gray and Talmage Stamper face trial for first degree murder in connection with separate killings in the Greater Cincinnati area.

Melvin G. Rueger, Hamilton County prosecutor, said Gray, 26, Cincinnati, is accused of beating to death Mrs. Emma Louise Meadows, 37, and also faced a charge of aggravated assault in wounding her daughter, Ivy, 9. Mrs. Meadows was killed Nov. 15 in her apartment.

Stamper, 67, Springdale, is accused of shooting Forrest D. Hawks, 36, Springdale, during a quarrel Dec. 3.

Thomas Charles Cornell, 31, New York, publications director of the Catholic Peace Fellowship.

Mare Paul Edelman, 20, Mt. Vernon, N.Y., affiliated with the Student Peace Union.

Roy Lisker, 27, New York, affiliated with the Committee for Non-Violent Action.

James E. Wilson, 21, Chatham, N.J.

The indictment followed by one day a telegram protest by the New York Civil Liberties Union to U.S. Atty. Robert M. Morgenthau criticizing the federal grand jury investigation of draft card burnings.

If convicted, the defendants could receive a maximum five-year sentence and be fined $10,000.

Lansdowne Links Is ORA Member

The Upper Lansdowne Golf Links is now a member of the Outdoor Recreation Assn.

The ORA is an organization made up primarily of public golf course owners.

Among objectives of the organization is the fight for Daylight Savings Time, a need for recreation legislation, and a battle against increased taxes levied against public golf courses.

Don Collins, owner of Upper Lansdowne, pointed out that Daylight Savings time meant 20 per cent more income for public golf course operators in northern Ohio last year.

ORGANIZATION president, Bill Lyons of Canal Fulton, says there is no recreation legislation in the state.

Lyons has also stated there is a need for education of the golfer, noting it's one of the greatest recreational bargains.

The organization also feels Municipal courses should charge comparable green fees to public course operators.

Testimonial Set For Joe Nuxhall

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — Some of Southwest Ohio's leading sports figures are scheduled to attend a testimonial dinner here Jan. 12 for Joe Nuxhall, the youngest man ever to pitch in the major leagues.

"Hamilton Joe" made his debut with the Cincinnati Reds on June 10, 1944, at the age of 15, giving up five runs in 2-3 innings. Now 37, he is a top member of the Reds' pitching staff.

Among those expected to attend the dinner are Bill DeWitt, president of the Reds; Warren Giles, president of the National League, and Walt Alston, manager of the Los Angeles Dodgers.

North-South Coaches Hail Top Talent

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Rival coaches, looking over their squads for the North-South College All-Star game in the Orange Bowl Saturday afternoon, figure they have the best material ever assembled for this affair.

"I'm just plain excited over the wonderful material we have here," said South Coach Glenn Dobbs of Tulsa. "Our only trouble might be in containing those big North linemen long enough to get passes off, but that's just what we will be trying to do."

Dobbs will have his Tulsa combination of Billy Anderson and Howard Twilley. If the North defensive backs gang up on Twilley, Anderson can throw to Bob Dunlevy of West Virginia, Rodger Bird of Kentucky or George Pearce from William and Mary. Dick Leftridge of West Virginia is fullback.

Quarterbacks for Ara Parseghian's North team will be Don Unverforth of Ohio State with Sam Price, Illinois; Jo Kuzniowski, Purdue, and Dave McNaughton, Penn State, as backs.

Receivers will include James Todd, Ball State; Dan McGinn, Notre Dame; Randy Minniear, Purdue, and Steve Smith, Michigan.

"We're really beginning to look good now," Parseghian said after Tuesday's practice.

Kickoff time is 4:30 p. m., EST.

Diego Flanker Voted Top Player

NEW YORK (AP) — Lance Alworth, pass-catching star for the San Diego Chargers, was chosen today as the American Football League's Player of the Year by the New York chapter of the Pro Football Writers Association.

The fleet flanker from Arkansas caught 69 passes for the Western Division champions this year, averaging a remarkable 23.2 yards per reception, and scored 14 touchdowns.

Dick Butkus and Gale Sayers, who put the Stop and Go into Chicago's National Football League comeback this season, have made the jump to superstar billing in their first pro fling.

Sayers, the breakaway flash from Kansas, and Butkus, bruising linebacker from Illinois, were the only first-year pros named Tuesday to The Associated Press 1965 All-NFL squad.

A 42-man panel of sports writers and broadcasters from the 14 NFL cities named Sayers to an all-league backfield that includes holdovers Johnny Unitas of Baltimore and Jim Brown of Cleveland while placing Butkus in the middle of a defensive array dominated by veteran standouts.

Baltimore and Green Bay, heading for a Western Division title showdown Sunday, each landed four players on the All-NFL team while the Bears, who captured third place in the rugged West after a next-to-last finish in 1964, placed three men on the first unit.

Besides Unitas, who retained his quarterback berth despite being beset by injuries most of the season, the Colts placed swift flanker Jimmy Orr and mammoth guard Jim Parker on the offensive team and interception king Bob Boyd at defensive corner back.

The Packers named were offensive guard Forrest Gregg, defensive end Willie Davis and defensive backs Herb Adderley and Willie Wood.

Sayers, who set a league record of 22 touchdowns and won the scoring title with 132 points, topped Philadelphia's Tim Brown for the running back spot alongside Jim Brown. The National Football League's top player in the writers' first annual awards balloting.

Cleveland fullback was the only unanimous selection after capturing the rushing crown for the eighth time in nine years.

The 240-pound Butkus edged another Illinois alumnus, Green Bay's Ray Nitschke, for the middle linebacker position while Chicago teammate Joe Fortunato and Detroit's Wayne Walker took the corner linebacker spots.

Cleveland's Eastern Division champions also landed Dick Schafrath at one of the offensive tackle positions. His running mate is second-year man Bob Brown of Philadelphia.

The Eagles' Pete Retzlaff captured the tight end post and San Francisco's Dave Parks, the league's No. 1 receiver, outpolled Gary Collins of the Browns and Los Angeles' Tommy McDonald for split end honors.

Mick Tinglehoff of Minnesota won the center berth in a wide-open race over Cleveland's John Morrow, Philadelphia's Jim Ringo and Bob De Marco of St. Louis.

Joining Green Bay's Davis in the defensive front four are three potent pass-rushers — end Dave Jones of Los Angeles and tackles Bob Lilly of Dallas and Alex Karras of Detroit. Washington's Paul Karue, one of 11 repeaters on the squad, completes the defensive secondary.

Blue-Gray Battle Coming Saturday

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Coaches for both the North and the South — if their practice sessions thus far this week are any indication — are expecting Saturday's Blue-Gray game to be an aerial duel.

Both teams have concentrated heavily on both the conducting and the thwarting of passing attacks.

New Stadium Site in Cincy To Be Named

CINCINNATI (AP) — Speculation about the site of Cincinnati's proposed $20 million sports stadium should end with today's meeting of the Stadium Steering Committee.

An early decision on the 60,000 seat stadium would strengthen Cincinnati's hand in bidding for a National Football League franchise at a league meeting Feb. 14. Paul Brown, former coach of the Cleveland Browns football team, is trying to bring the franchise to Cincinnati.

Hamilton County is expected to finance the stadium. Twenty-one of Cincinnati's leading bonding companies have indicated they will join in the effort.

Three sites have been mentioned for the stadium, with suburban Blue Ash seeming to have the edge over an area that would include Crosley Field and a riverfront area near downtown Cincinnati.

The Blue Ash strong point is parking space. Bill DeWitt, president-general manager of the Cincinnati Reds baseball team, told the steering committee Tuesday the stadium should have space to park 15,000 cars.

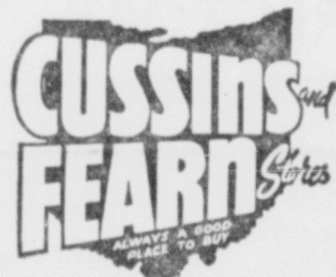

DeWitt's Reds would share the stadium with the football team. They now play their home games at Crosley Field, which seats 25,000.

The Queen City's main rivals for the NFL team are considered to be Houston and New Orleans.

Sayers Is Named Rookie of Year

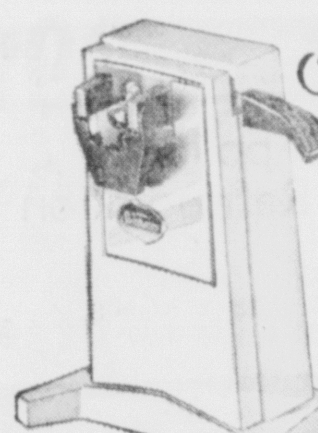

NEW YORK (AP) — Gale Sayers, the Chicago Bears' exciting halfback, has been voted Rookie of the Year in a season that has been called the Year of the Rookie in the National Football League.

Sayers won by a landslide in the voting of a panel of 42 sports writers and sportscasters, three from each of the 14 league cities, in an Associated Press poll.

Ohioan Helps Davidson to Spank Ohio U

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A "Southerner" from North Canton, Ohio, demonstrated first-hand Tuesday night that Ohio recruits missed when they let him get away, making Ohio University's Bobcats the goggle-eyed witnesses-victims.

Davidson's Dick Snyder, who in other years has shown Ohio state teams much of the same, showered 46 points on Ohio U. while holding top Bobcat scorer Ken Fowlkes to seven. Result: Davidson 96, Ohio U. 63.

Six-foot-11 Rod Knowles went 8-for-8 from the field during the first half of the game at Charlotte, N.C., helping Ohioan Snyder boost the Wildcats to a 49-23 halftime lead. Then Snyder bagged 30 of his points after intermission and Davidson had its seventh victory since an opening loss to Wake Forest.

Dave Brown scored 17 for Ohio, now 4-4, while Knowles totaled 22 in support of the 6-foot-5 senior who caged 20 of 26 field goal shots and equalled the Davidson one-game point record. Fred Hetzel set it last season.

Kent State earned a split for Mid-American Conference teams from Ohio for the night, turning back visiting Northern Illinois 104-90 behind John Schick's 26 tallies.

In Akron's Rubber City Classic, Ohio Conference representatives Marietta and Akron meet for the title tonight after beating Pennsylvania schools Tuesday. The Pioneers topped Bucknell 75-66 with Dick Sowers scoring 29 points and the Zips clipped Geneva 79-65.

Up in Michigan, Cedarville lost to Olivet 97-80 in a Christmas tournament at Jackson, Mich., and Rio Grande slipped past Michigan Lutheran 95-94 in the consolation match of the Detroit Holiday Invitational.

Phyllis Diller Splits With Her New Mate

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Comedienne Phyllis Diller has separated from her husband of less than three months, a spokesman announced.

The spokesman said entertainer Warde Donovan moved out of the couple's West Los Angeles home last week. Miss Diller and her four children by a previous marriage will continue to live there.

No reason was given for the separation. Miss Diller divorced Sherwood Diller in St. Louis last September, ending their 25-year marriage. She married Donovan Oct. 7.

Duke Defeats Michigan '5'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
"It was the greatest comeback any Duke team has ever staged."

Vic Bubas, the Duke coach, was a happy man when he spoke those words after his No. 1-ranked Blue Devils had wiped out a 10-point deficit in the last four minutes to defeat the third-ranked Michigan Wolverines 100-93 in overtime in Tuesday night's top college basketball game.

Duke, behind by 14 points early in the second half, pulled up to 80-70 before starting its winning late surge. The Blue Devils took the lead at 84-83 on Bob Verga's basket with 25 seconds left. Steve Vacendak made it 85-83 with a free throw at the nine-second mark.

The crowd of 11,950 at Cobo Hall in Detroit roared as John Clawson temporarily staved off defeat for Michigan with a basket at the buzzer to force the game into overtime. It was all Duke in the extra period with Verga showing the way with nine of his 27 points.

Duke's comeback overshadowed Brigham Young's 103-83 victory over the second-ranked St. Joseph's Hawks of Philadelphia. A crowd of 11,158 at Provo, Utah, saw the unbeaten, but unranked Cougars hand the Hawks their first defeat.

Fourth-ranked Vanderbilt and fifth-ranked Bradley remained unbeaten, however. Vanderbilt crushed U. Calif., Santa Barbara, 91-64 at Nashville for the Commodores' seventh straight. Bradley made it nine in a row by defeating Montana 87-77 at Peoria. The other five teams in the Associated Press Top Ten were idle.

All-America Cazzie Russell's 30 points, many of which came in bunches, made the going difficult for Duke. "Russell is a great player," Bubas said. "His scoring flurries can demolish you. We played him man-to-man with the idea of having a man ready to help out when needed."

"We just missed too many easy shots once we got ahead and they hurt," said Dave Strack, Michigan coach.

Jack Marin's 30 points for Duke equaled Russell's output for Michigan, but it was Verga who got the key points for the Blue Devils. A 27-10 spurt early in the second half broke the game open for BTU against St. Joseph's. Dick Nemelka and Jeff Congdon each tallied 22 points for the Cougars as did Billy Oakes and Matt Guokas for the Hawks. Big 6-foot-9 Clyde Lee paced Vanderbilt over Santa Barbara with 24 points. Joe Allen's 25 points led Bradley over Montana.

Auburn won the Gasparilla Classic at Tampa by defeating Florida 59-58 on Jimmy Montgomery's two free throws in the last 18 seconds. Northwestern took the title in the Memphis State classic by edging Texas 73-71 on Jimmy Pitts' winning basket.

Seattle toppled Colorado State U. from the unbeaten ranks 83-78 at Seattle.

Knocked out of the Top Ten by their loss last Saturday to Cincinnati, UCLA's defending national champions overwhelmed Southern California 86-67. At one time UCLA's fast break gave the Bruins a 41-10 spree against the Trojans. On another occasion the Bruins went on a 17-0 burst.

Tommy Kerwin's 40 points led Centenary over Southern Methodist 87-81 at Dallas while Texas Christian surprised Oklahoma City 103-93 at Fort Worth behind Rich Sauer's 30 points.

The Washington Senators had the poorest night game attendance in the American League last season, drawing only 344,710 fans for 49 home games.

Former Solon Wins Pardon From Johnson

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Former Rep. Frank Boykin, joyful over his pardon from President Johnson, says he now hopes to recover the $40,000 fine he paid when convicted of conspiracy to defraud the United States in violating conflict-of-interest laws.

"I thought all along that right would prevail," the 80-year-old Boykin said Tuesday. "And now it has. I was not worried, because I knew I had done nothing wrong. I'm very happy."

Boykin was fined $40,000 and sentenced to six months probation after he was convicted in eight counts in the U.S. District Court in Baltimore, Md., Oct. 7, 1963. He had been accused of attempting to influence the Justice Department in handling mail fraud charges in a savings and loan case.

Boykin, now active in the lumber and land business in Mobile after a 28-year career in Congress, was not given a prison sentence in view of his age and physical condition. The effect of the pardon, disclosed Tuesday, is to clear his record and restore the civil rights he lost when convicted.

The pardon was signed by Johnson last Friday and made effective as of Monday. The Justice Department said the former Democratic congressman has a serious heart condition and high blood pressure.

Solons Pay Tribute to Boyd Horn

BOYD HORN

City Council last night conducted its final session of 1965 by bidding farewell to solon Boyd Horn who has served with the local governing body for 24 continuous years.

The veteran Fourth Ward councilman, unseated in the May primary, was elected to office in 1941. A portion of last night's meeting was devoted to recognition of his many years of service.

In fact, the lawmakers adopted a resolution memorializing the long-time governing associate and presented it to him as a keepsake. The presentation was accompanied by a standing ovation from all present.

The official eulogy described Horn as one of the most faithful, if not the most faithful, of all members of council from the standpoint of attendance at meetings. His devotion to city affairs and to his beloved Fourth Ward also was recognized.

HIS FIRM attitude of expressing the courage of his own convictions, although this often labeled him as the "great dissenter" constituted an additional tribute to him.

The resolution, prepared by Solicitor Kenneth Robbins, praised Horn for his negative stand on hasty legislation and his efforts to give all governing matters due consideration.

The veteran solon's departure from the council scene was termed the loss of a true advocate of city and Fourth Ward interests.

Special praise and recognition was conveyed to Horn by Police Chief Robert Temple and Fire Chief Bernard Wolfe.

Actress Is Social Director of Plush Hollywood Club

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Who wouldn't want to join a club that had Suzanne Pleshette as social director?

A couple hundred Hollywood types are plunking down $150 to become charter members of the Other Place, the latest landmark on the film colony's shifting social scene. It is a private discotheque in Beverly Hills, where the younger crowd can frug and watusi among friends.

Miss Pleshette, a vivacious brunette who likes action, was among the first enrollees in the Other Place. She told one of the proprietors, Chuck Livingston:

"You know, as soon as you get the Other Place organized, you ought to appoint a committee to sound out the members' wishes and plan special events. For instance, they might want to hire a bus to go to the football games, or have a costume party at Halloween, or dress up in Oriental costumes for Chinese New Year's."

The owner replied: "that's a splendid idea; you're elected!"

Serving without pay, portfolio or dreams of glory, Suzanne has scouted a number of social schemes: political meetings during election periods; fashion shows for women; fashion shows for men.

"Men are so vain, but they won't admit it," she argued. "I think they'd love fashion shows for themselves. Or maybe on a Sunday we could get Jay Sebring to come in and style hair for 10 of the male members. The wives would enjoy that."

Suzanne Pleshette exemplifies the new generation of Hollywood society that is filling the void as the old guard retires to mansions in Beverly Hills or to that great box-office in the sky.

It's a swinging new group that enjoys living as frantically as the tribal dances they perform nightly.

Is this entirely new on the Hollywood scene? Of course not. A short generation ago, Lana Turner, Rita Hayworth and their playmates were jitterbugging at Ciro's and Mocambo and drawing the spotlight from the maturing figures of the movie milieu.

Former Solon Wins Pardon From Johnson

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Former Rep. Frank Boykin, joyful over his pardon from President Johnson, says he now hopes to recover the $40,000 fine he paid when convicted of conspiracy to defraud the United States in violating conflict-of-interest laws.

"I thought all along that right would prevail," the 80-year-old Boykin said Tuesday. "And now it has, I was not worried, because I knew I had done nothing wrong. I'm very happy."

Boykin was fined $40,000 and sentenced to six months probation after he was convicted in eight counts in the U.S. District Court in Baltimore, Md., Oct. 7, 1963. He had been accused of attempting to influence the Justice Department in handling mail fraud charges in a savings and loan case.

Boykin, now active in the lumber and land business in Mobile after a 28-year career in Congress, was not given a prison sentence in view of his age and physical condition. The effect of the pardon, disclosed Tuesday, is to clear his record and restore the civil rights he lost when convicted.

The pardon was signed by Johnson last Friday and made effective as of Monday. The Justice Department said the former Democratic congressman has a serious heart condition and high blood pressure.
